

BRYAN EXPLAINS REASONS FOR LEAVING THE CABINET

STATEMENT RECEIVED WITH UNDISGUISED AMAZEMENT IN OFFICIAL QUARTERS

Asserts President Did Not Feel Justified in Adopting Two Suggestions Made By Secretary—To Sound Sentiment of Country to Determine People's Views on Differences of Opinion.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—William Jennings Bryan retired today as secretary of state. His first act as a private citizen was to issue a statement explaining his reasons for leaving the cabinet and announcing that he intended to lay his view of what the America policy toward Germany should be before the public for judgment.

Refused Two Suggestions.

This statement came as a sensational climax to a day of farewell speeches and good wishes from President Wilson and executive colleagues of the retiring secretary. In his explanation Mr. Bryan said that the president had not felt justified in adopting two suggestions made by his secretary of state—that an order should be made to Germany to submit the questions in dispute with the United States to an international committee for investigation during a year's time and that meanwhile Americans should by proclamation be warned not to take passage on any belligerent ships or on American vessels carrying ammunition. These preparations Mr. Bryan expects to urge upon the people, "in the hope of securing such an expression of public sentiment as will support the president in employing these remedies if in the future he finds it consistent with his sense of duty to favor them."

Mr. Bryan's statements were received with undisguised amazement in official quarters. No comment was made at the white house, but some high officials indicated that they believed it most unfortunate that so pronounced an expression of opinion should be made public while the discussion with Germany was in progress. It became known too, that Mr. Bryan told his colleagues in a general way of the contents of his statement and some had advised against it.

Principle Embodied in Treaties.

The principle advocated by Mr. Bryan is embodied in treaties of peace negotiated by the United States with thirty nations and was accepted by Germany although no convention ever was drafted. The statement is a condensation of the argument which Secretary Bryan has been making repeatedly to President Wilson in the last few weeks and upon which he hopes to build up a public sentiment in the United States that will make war with Germany impossible.

The issuance of the explanation had been timed to coincide exactly with the dispatch of the American note to Germany.

Mr. Bryan left the state department shortly after one o'clock. The note was put on the telegraph wires at 2 o'clock when Mr. Bryan's resignation went into effect.

Reads Congratulatory Telegrams.

On leaving the state department Mr. Bryan drove directly home to assume his new role as a private citizen by reading telegrams of congratulations which poured in from friends throughout the country. Mr. Bryan had luncheon alone with Mrs. Bryan, awaiting word from the department that the note to Germany had been cabled. A few minutes after two o'clock he appeared on the veranda and distributed among waiting correspondents copies of his statement, explaining that he had reserved the right to discuss other points in the note not dwelt upon in the statement. He intimated that he might have something further to say after the note had been made public.

The afternoon and the evening the retiring secretary spent quietly at home.

"I expect to spend most of my first hours as a private citizen," he said, "reading telegrams that keep coming in."

"Are most of them congratulating you?" he was asked.

"Oh, that is their general tenor," Mr. Bryan replied. "Naturally there would not be many personal telegrams of a different nature sent."

Cannot Announce Plans.

When asked if he had any announcement as to his plans for the future, Mr. Bryan said nothing had been determined and that he had no definite speaking engagements. "I have some tentative engagements," he added, "but cannot announce anything at this time."

Remarking that he expected to remain in Washington for a time at least, Mr. Bryan said while here he would keep in touch with the administration and probably occasionally be about the state department unofficially.

His friends amplified his argument in his statement regarding the international relations now stirring the American people. In these talks he gave some intimation of the stress of his efforts in the cabinet to change the course taken by the administration toward Germany and made it clear that it was his purpose to sound the sentiment of the country to determine the people's views on the differences of opinion.

Bryan Gives Out Statement.

Just as the new American note to Germany was started on its way over the telegraph wires, Mr. Bryan at his home gave out this statement of his position:

"My reason for resigning is clearly stated in my letter of resignation, namely, that I may employ as a private citizen the means which the president does not feel at liberty to employ. I honor him for doing what he believes to be right and I am sure that he desires, as I do, to find a peaceful solution of the problem which has been created by the action of the submarines.

"Two of the points on which we differ, each conscientious in his conviction, are:

"First, as to the suggestion of investigation by an international commission, and

"Second, as to warning Americans against traveling on belligerent vessels or with cargoes of ammunition.

Should Apply Treaty Principle.

"I believe that this nation should frankly state to Germany that we are willing to apply in this case the principle which we are bound by treaty to apply to disputes between the United States and thirty countries with which we have made treaties providing for investigation of all disputes of every character and nature.

"These treaties, negotiated under this administration, make war practically impossible between this country and the thirty governments representing nearly three-fourths of all the people of the world.

"Among the nations with which we have these treaties are Great Britain, France and Russia. No matter what disputes may arise between us and these treaty nations, we agree that there shall be no declaration and no commencement of hostilities until the matters in dispute have been investigated by an international commission and a year's time is allowed for investigation and report. This plan was offered to all the nations, without any exceptions whatever, and Germany was one of the nations that accepted the principle, being the twelfth, I think, to accept.

Should Make Offer.

"No treaty was actually entered into with Germany, but I cannot say that that should stand in the way when both nations endorsed the principle. I do not know whether Germany could accept the offer, but our country should, in my judgment, make the offer.

"Such an offer, if accepted, would at once relieve the tension and silence all the jingoes who are demanding war. Germany has always been a friendly nation and a great many of our people are of German ancestry. Why should we not deal with Germany according to this plan to which the nation has pledged its support?

"The second point of difference is as to the course which should be traveling on belligerent ships or pursued in regard to Americans with cargoes of ammunition.

Question Not One of Right.

"Why should an American citizen be permitted to involve his country in war by traveling upon a belligerent ship when he knows that the ship will pass through a danger zone? The question is not whether an American citizen has a right under international law to travel on a belligerent ship, the question is whether he ought not, out of consideration for his country, if not for his own safety, avoid danger when avoidance is possible.

"It is a very one-sided citizenship that compels a government to go to war over a citizen's rights and yet relieve the citizen of all obligations to consider his nation's welfare. I do not know just how far the president can legally go in actually preventing Americans from traveling on belligerent ships, but I believe the government should go as far as it can and that in case of doubt it should give the benefit of the doubt to the government.

"But even if the government could not legally prevent citizens from traveling on belligerent ships, it could, and in my judgment should, earn-

Comment On Secretary Bryan's Resignation

BERLIN, via London, June 10.—The resignation of the American secretary of state has caused great surprise here and opinions as to the reasons which led Mr. Bryan to take this step differ greatly. The Mittag Zeitung assumes that Mr. Bryan wanted a sharper note against Germany than President Wilson was willing to sanction, but it does not expect a friendly attitude towards Germany from the president.

MILAN, via Chiasso to Paris, June 9.—The resignation of Secretary of State Bryan produced a profound impression here. The newspapers see in the retirement of Mr. Bryan the failure of his ultra-pacifist policy.

They express the belief that President Wilson will now adopt a more energetic attitude toward Germany and even take recourse in grave measures, including the rupture of diplomatic relations between the two countries if Germany does not give satisfaction to the American demands.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Secretary Daniels late today said:

"I think that the note the president is about to send is the right note and that the country will stand behind him. Nine members of the cabinet believe the president's proposition is right. In declining the note I think Secretary Bryan stood by his convictions."

Mr. Daniels reiterated his statement that he had not even thought of resigning as secretary of the navy.

LONDON, June 10.—The Daily Telegraph in an editorial on the resignation of the Secretary of State Bryan says:

"It is no business of ours to comment on the incident which, however, we regard it, reflects no little credit on both parties to the controversy. The president has clearly taken his stand on his ground, and having made up his mind, chooses to adhere to his resolution as the likeliest means for gaining his end. Mr. Bryan equally thought it his duty to be consistent with his past policy and refused to desert the principles which he holds to be sacred.

"As to the probable results of Mr. Bryan's resignation, it does not look at present as if they would seriously affect the American policy. Those who sympathize with Germany in the United States may try to make capital out of it on the ground that the late secretary has a large following in the country and therefore represents a solid body of opinion favorable to Berlin. But there is nothing in Mr. Bryan's letter of resignation to support such a condition.

"When the contents of the note to Germany are made known we shall be better able to appreciate the president's firmness and Mr. Bryan's reluctance. We look forward without appreciation to the disclosure of its contents, for, thought we are far from any desire to criticize or advise we are sure the United States, guided by the highest considerations and in strict accordance with its precedents in the past, will support those rules of fairness, justice and humanity to which the president in his earlier note had already made so eloquent an appeal."

LONDON, June 9.—Remarkable that while it was a legend of the German press that Mr. Bryan was a bitter enemy of Germany and a strong partisan of the allies, he has resigned rather than sign a document he fears may lead to war with Germany, the Daily News says:

"The truth is, of course, he never was anti-German or pro-English, but always a good American and a confirmed pacifist. That the American press should assail Bryan so mercilessly suggests that the order in America which avoided European entanglements is vanishing. No continent can isolate itself and live out its political life without feel to what is passing elsewhere.

"The sea war between two European powers brings the shadow of war upon the horizon of the United States. We should go very far wrong if we assume that war or a diplomatic rupture is the certain, or highly probable outcome of the dispute. President Wilson will spare no effort to preserve peace and the rulers of Germany can be under no illusion as to the magnitude of the disaster a conflict with the United States would mean.

"The United States has the greatest manufacturing plants in the world, the largest population of first class recruiting material, the most inventive brains—it is in fact a formidable enemy. Germany trifled with the United States because it had two illusions. One was that under no circumstances would America fight and the other was that the German-American element would prevent the United States from taking strong action by the menace of civil war. There no longer is room for either of these illusions and under the circumstances it is reasonable to conclude that most serious efforts will be made to avert a rupture.

War News Summarized

Determined fighting is in progress on all the battle fronts, while on the sea a Turkish gunboat, a Turkish transport and a French transport have been sent to the bottom by gun fire; a German submarine has been sunk, her crew being rescued, and several small British vessels have been torpedoed. The Turkish gunboat and transport were accounted for by the British forces operating in the Persian gulf. The French transport was sunk by the Turks in the waters off Gallipoli peninsula.

On the western front the French have completed their occupation of Neuville St. Vaast, to the north of Arras; have made additional progress in the intricate maze of trenches known as the "labyrinth" and have beaten back a strong counter-attack delivered by the Germans at the Quenneviers farm, which was taken by the French troops on June 6th, after a series of desperate engagements preceded by a heavy bombardment.

Losses of ground and the capture of Russian prisoners south of the Dniester river in Galicia are recorded by Vienna, while the Austrian war office asserts that on the Italian front the Italians have been repulsed with severe losses in men and guns at Gorizia and near Gradisco and Montefalcone.

The British casualty list for war embracing the troops on the continent and on the Mediterranean, numbers 258,069 as announced by Premier Asquith in the house of commons.

PRISON COMMISSION REFUSES CLEMENCY FOR LEO M. FRANK

Report Exhausts All But One of the Avenues by Which Frank Sought to Escape Execution.

Atlanta, Ga., June 9.—The state prison commission today submitted an adverse recommendation to Governor Slaton on Leo M. Frank's petition for commutation of his death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan. The vote of the commission was two to one. Its report exhausted all but one of the avenues by which Frank has sought to escape execution. His final appeal for clemency will be made to the governor at a hearing, the date of which will be fixed later.

Frank's execution is set for June 22. William Howard will conduct Frank's case and Solicitor General Dorsey will oppose clemency. Mr. Howard said tonight he proposed to argue that the record shows the evidence against the prisoner was circumstantial and that this, together with the trial judge's doubt of Frank's guilt, was sufficient to warrant commutation.

The majority report of the prison commission held that neither the grand jurors, the trial jury nor the prosecutors had asked for a commutation; that no new evidence or facts bearing on the prisoner's guilt or innocence had been shown and that they saw no reason to interfere.

The dissenting report held that the evidence against Frank was circumstantial, that the trial judge entertained doubt of the prisoner's guilt and that the record in the case justified the governor in commuting the sentence.

PROSPECTS FOR BILLION BUSHEL WHEAT CROP ARE BRIGHTENED

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Prospects of a billion bushel wheat crop were brightened during the last week by favorable weather for both winter and spring wheat, according to today's national weather and crop bulletin. Since the government's June 1st canvass, upon which the crop reporting board predicted a 950,000,000 bushel wheat crop, which with good growing weather might report a billion bushels, winter wheat is said to have generally improved while spring wheat made satisfactory progress.

PLACES LARGE ORDER FOR STEEL RAIL

New York, June 9.—Announcement was made today that the Pennsylvania railroad has placed orders for 155,000 tons of steel rail. Orders for 12,000 tons have heretofore been given, making the total orders for the year 167,000 tons for the lines east and west of Pittsburgh. The orders placed today call for 118,000 tons of 109 pound rail and 37,000 tons of 125 pound rail.

FLOOD WATERS BREAK THROUGH REINFORCED LEVEE

Fort Worth, Tex., June 9.—Breaking through the reinforced levee, flood waters of the Trinity river tonight began overflowing parts of the packing house district and damaging railroads serving the Swift and Armour plants. Advance precautions rendered it likely that the property damage would be small though fears were expressed that the packing industries might be delayed in operations.

Settlement is hardly practicable, however, unless tactics of procrastination are abandoned by German and American ships and American lives made secure.

HOUSE ADVANCES CAR LIMIT BILL

Amend Measure to Make
Limit of Length of Freight
Trains Seventy Five Cars

DEFEAT HOME RULE BILL

Senate Tables Five Bills Introduced By Elections Committee Codifying Laws

PASS TEXT BOOK MEASURE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 9.—Organized labor won another legislative victory today when it succeeded in getting the McGlooin car limit bill advance from second to third reading in the lower house an amendment was inserted making the limit on the length of freight trains seventy-five cars. As it was introduced the bill limited freight trains to fifty cars. The bill is being backed by organized labor as a "safety first" measure.

Defeat Home Rule Bill.

Friends and foes of the Chicago public utilities home rule bill tonight considered the measure a dead issue insofar as this session of the legislature is concerned. When considered by the lower house for a second time, the bill received 61 negative and only 72 affirmative votes, five short of the number necessary for passage. Overnight the bill lost seven and gained four votes.

Practically all prospects for the passage of any election laws at this session vanished when the senate tabled the five bills introduced by the elections committee codifying the election laws and making several changes in them. The tabling of the bills followed the adoption of a motion by Senator Barr that a resolution be prepared and offered for the creation of a commission to report to the next general assembly upon the election bills that further consideration of the subject be dispensed with and declaring the senate to be in favor of a revision of the election laws of the state.

Pass Text Book Bill.

The house reconsidered and passed the county uniform text book bill. The measure failed of passage last week. The motion to reconsider was made by Representative Merritt of Sangamon county. The bill provides for the creation of county uniform text book commissions of five members but does not apply to Cook county.

Preparatory to adjoining next week, both houses began holding night sessions tonight. Leaders of the Republican organization have set next Thursday night as the time for adjournment, with sine die adjournment ten days later.

The tax levy bill, the last to be introduced every session, was passed by the house.

The house concurred in the senate amendments to the Dudgeon bill making appropriation of $100,000 for county fair associations and other agricultural societies. The house refused to concur in the senate amendments to the normal school appropriation bill and the measure will be sent to a conference committee. Consideration of the Franz bill enabling municipalities to get out from under the provisions of the city election commission law by a majority vote at a referendum election was postponed indefinitely.

The house passed another one of the foot and mouth appropriation bills carrying $500,000. The house refused to concur in senate amendments to another foot and mouth bill appropriating $104,565.98 to provide for the state's payment of fifty per cent of the expense for burying slaughtered animals, disinfecting premises and buying disinfectants. The reason was that the senate had added an almost equal amount to the bill.

Abolish Barbers Board. Senator Latham's bill abolishing the state board of barbers' examiners, met with considerable opposition when called up tonight, but was passed.

Senator Elder's bill providing that at least one hour each week shall be devoted to physical education in the public schools was passed.

Senator Barr called up his bill providing for the pensioning of employees in state charitable, penal and reformatory institutions after twenty-five years of service. It met with opposition and failed of passage.

Senator Stewart's bill authorizing a two mill tax in all municipalities outside of Chicago for the purpose of establishing and maintaining playgrounds upon referendum vote, was passed. The house gave its approval to the Merritt bill, removing all state employees from under civil service with the exception of nurses and medical help in the state charitable institutions when it advanced the bill to third reading.

LONDON BELIEVES NOTE MUST BE VERY STRONG

INTEREST IN THE CABINET SHAKEUP
OVERSHADOWS WAR DEVELOPMENTS

Papers Give Bryan's Letter and Wilson's Reply the Most Prominent Place—Change British Policy Respecting Treatment of German Submarine Prisoners.

LONDON, June 9.—The resignation of William Jennings Bryan and the nature of the American note to Germany which brought it about transcend in interest all else bearing on the war. The London papers give Mr. Bryan's letter of resignation and President Wilson's reply the most prominent place. These are followed by long dispatches from their American correspondents and articles on Mr. Bryan's career which emphasize his advocacy of settlement of international disputes, and draw the conclusion that the note must be very strong to have brought about his retirement.

"America stands firm," or similar phrases are the most favored leadings, and also the text of editorials commenting on the latest developments in the American-German relations.

Sink German Submarine. Even the news that another German submarine had been sunk and the announcement by Mr. Bark, first lord of the admiralty, of a change in the British policy respecting the treatment of German submarine prisoners had to take second place in the day's events.

This change in policy has been expected for some time. When Winston Spencer Churchill, the former first lord, announced March 8 that prisoners rescued from German submarines would not be accorded the honorable treatment extended other prisoners, a number of the members of the house of commons expressed their disapproval and anticipated the reprisals which the Germans took against the British officers imprisoned in Germany. Steps will be taken through the American embassy to inform the German government of this change in the British policy in the hope that British officers suffering solitary confinement will be given the same treatment as other prisoners.

British Lose Quarter of a Million.

Another important announcement in the house of commons which attracted much attention was that of the premier, who stated that the casualties among the British expeditionary forces on the continent and in the Mediterranean amounted to more than a quarter of a million men. A little less than half of these casualties occurred since April 11, the date of the last statement. Up to that time the monthly average of casualties was about 17,400, but the fighting in Flanders and the Dardanelles in the seven weeks to the end of May brought the average for the ten months of the war up to nearly 26,000, or more than 860 daily.

There are still the casualties suffered by the navy and the naval division to be added to this total.

Offensive Is Successful.

So far as battles are concerned, that in Galicia holds the center of the stage. The capture by the Austro-Germans of Stanislaw shows that the offensive against the Russians has been successful and that the Russians have been compelled to fall back to their defenses on the Dniester. In eastern Galicia, along the rest of the line which follows the upper Dniester and thence eastward from Przemyśl the lower San, they appear to be holding their own and are counter-attacking. In the Baltic provinces the fighting continues with varying success, first the Russians and then the Germans gaining the advantage. The French have at last, according to the German admission, become entire masters of Neuville and are continuing their attacks in this region, as well as to the southwest of Arras and in the Voivre.

High officials generally held the view that Mr. Bryan's statement constituted a virtual surrender of American rights, guaranteed not only by international law but by specific treaties between the United States and Germany. Mr. Bryan's suggestion that Americans do not take passage on American ships carrying ammunition was in direct conflict, it was pointed out with the treaty of 1828 between Prussia and the United States wherein either party in time of war is given the right of free access to belligerent ports for commerce in arms and ammunition and other contraband.

Conflicted With Treaty.

The president's view is understood to be that a new weapon of offense in warfare can be introduced only if it is made to conform with the generally established rules of international law existing. The hands of war may be changed, he said, but not the rules of war, unless there is a general agreement among the nations which contributed to the making of international law.

Not Opposed to Investigation.

Mr. Wilson, it became known is not opposed to the idea of an investigation or diplomatic discussion of the

BONILLA STARTS FOR WASHINGTON WITH VILLA'S REPLY TO WARNING

Response From Carranza Is Momentarily Expected by Cable Through Consul Silliman.

Washington, June 9.—A message from Chihuahua to the Villa agency here tonight announced that Manuel Bonilla had started for Washington with General Villa's responses to President Wilson's warning that the belligerent Mexican factions must restore peace and save the famine threatened civilian population of the southern republic from further suffering. Spokesmen for the Villa element already have indicated that their chief stands ready to co-operate in a peace movement. A reply from General Carranza is momentarily expected by cable through Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz. Manuel Bonilla was minister of public works in the cabinet of the late President Madero and is regarded as one of the strong men among Villa's supporters. He is expected to deliver the response to Enrique C. Llorente head of the agency here for presentation to the American government. No definite news reached Washington tonight from central Mexico where Obregon, the Carranza commander and Villa are believed to be engaged in their final battle.

AMERICAN NOTE IS SENT TO GERMANY

Reiterates Demand For Reparation For Loss of Americans on Lusitania

TO BE GIVEN OUT TONIGHT

Document Is Couched In Much More Friendly Terms Than It Was Believed Would Be Used

ROOM FOR FRIENDLY REPLY

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The United States today sent to Germany a note reiterating its demand for reparation for the loss of American lives in the sinking of the Lusitania and setting forth clearly the earnest desire of the American government that Germany signify her early adherence to the principles of international law—that neutrals be permitted to travel on unarmed ships without being subject to the dangers of submarine warfare.

Couched in Friendly Terms.

Couched in much more friendly terms than it was believed would be used when the unsatisfactory answer to the American note of May 13th, arrived from Germany the communication was called by Ambassador Gerard for presentation to the German foreign office. It will be given out tomorrow night for publication in morning papers of Friday. As the all important document, on which President Wilson and his advisers have worked for ten days went forth, it had behind it the united support of the cabinet. The one man who had opposed its terms because he believed it might precipitate war—William Jennings Bryan—had resigned the post of secretary of state at the moment the note was despatched.

President Rejected Suggestions.

A statement issued by Mr. Bryan revealed that President Wilson had rejected his suggestions for an investigation by a commission for a year's time of the legal phases of the dispute with Germany during which Americans should, according to Mr. Bryan's view, be warned against taking passage on any belligerent ships or on American vessels carrying ammunition.

President Wilson made no comment on the statement but the text of the note, it was stated, would outline fully the position of the president and the cabinet. The president stands unalterably, it was stated, on the principle that the United States at this stage in its history cannot afford to surrender any of its rights, that the American people had fought in 1812 for their rights on the high seas and could not sacrifice those rights with the nation's rise and growth to a position of command as a world power.

High Officials Generally Held the View.

High officials generally held the view that Mr. Bryan's statement constituted a virtual surrender of American rights, guaranteed not only by international law but by specific treaties between the United States and Germany. Mr. Bryan's suggestion that Americans do not take passage on American ships carrying ammunition was in direct conflict, it was pointed out with the treaty of 1828 between Prussia and the United States wherein either party in time of war is given the right of free access to belligerent ports for commerce in arms and ammunition and other contraband. Moreover, the right of an American citizen to sail on an unarmed and unresisting merchant ship of any nationality in time of war is held by the president and his advisers to be an inalienable privilege founded on the international law of centuries.

The president's view is understood to be that a new weapon of offense in warfare can be introduced only if it is made to conform with the generally established rules of international law existing. The hands of war may be changed, he said, but not the rules of war, unless there is a general agreement among the nations which contributed to the making of international law.

Mr. Wilson, it became known is not opposed to the idea of an investigation or diplomatic discussion of the

The home rule utilities bill designed to take Chicago utilities away from the control of the state commission, was killed in the lower house of the general assembly Wednesday. This was the second time the measure had been up for passage and friends of the bill admit that it is dead for this session. Down state cities had the justifiable feeling that if home rule was good for a big city that the same rights should extend to smaller cities.

Dr. Rammelkamp's Good Work
The personal tribute to Dr. Rammelkamp at the alumni dinner yesterday was most fitting and worthy. In the prosperity which has come to Illinois colleges its friends are far too likely to forget the man who has labored so assiduously for the past ten years to make the college what it is. The institution was truly at a low ebb in many respects when he put his shoulder to the wheel and many heartily commending stouter than his would have been appalled by the magnitude of the undertaking. But going earnestly and devotedly to work he accomplished great results. As he truly said, the co-operation of alumni and friends was very important, but the fact remains that to him belongs the greatest praise, and it is proper to give it to him now.

Ten years ago the actual endowment fund was $90,000, with a floating debt of $36,499. Now the endowment fund totals $388,770 and there is a balance in the treasury.

Judge W. M. Farmer, who was re-elected to the supreme bench, had possibly the hardest fight of any of the candidates. A considerable contest was waged against Judge Farmer because of a decision of his affecting the reading of the Bible in the public schools. It seems that Judge Farmer is an active church man and a strong believer in the Christian religion and that his opinion was governed wholly by the legal aspect of the case as he saw it. Judging from the returns the effort made to discredit him because of this decision reacted as so often happens when a religious question is made a part of a political issue.

The Meaning of "With."
In his remarks before the board of education Monday night Attorney William N. Haigrove emphasized his definition of the word "with" in his interpretation of a certain clause in the Jacksonville school charter. The question under discussion was as to the intent of the charter which says that a quorum shall consist of three members of the board with or without the president. Mr. Haigrove's contention was that the legal definition of the word "with" is "in addition to" and his argument was that based on this definition of the word that the intent of the law was that three members of the board in addition to the president or without the president constituted a quorum. It is not the province of a newspaper to speculate as to the correctness or incorrectness of this viewpoint. But certainly the attorney raised an interesting question and one that has not been previously pointed out. It is known that there is a difference of opinion among attorneys as to the exact meaning of the charter in its quorum provisions but until Monday has argument in the matter been based upon the definition of the word "with."

Springfield Mayorality Contest Ends.
The mayorality contest in Springfield has come to a close and Mayor Bauman is now in undisputed possession of the office. When Judge Creighton recently ruled that the attorneys for ex-mayor Schnepf could not amend their declaration so as to include certain charges of corruption the attorneys felt that the end of the case had come so far as their case was concerned, and his counsel dismissed the proceedings. The errors found during the course of the contest which has dragged along for a number of weeks were of a minor character and would have had no effect upon the result of the election as previously declared.

Swallowing the Bitter.
A new angle to the county wide contest now being waged between the utilities companies and jitney bus proprietors has just come to notice at Muskogee, Okla. There the general manager of the traction company has just announced that within ninety days all but two street cars will be taken out of service and the company instead will operate jitney buses on the principal thoroughfares. The new cars will be built somewhat along the same lines as the old ones and will be equipped with rubber tires and gasoline motors. The two regular street cars will be kept in operation in order to keep the company's franchise intact. The announced reason for the change is that the company believed that it can operate under the new plan much more economically and without the annoyance of meeting the regulations of state laws and state commissions.

The Harvest is Plenty.
For weeks the newspapers have had much to say about the great need for harvest hands in Oklahoma, Kansas and other western states as the most bountiful wheat and oat crops known for years are anticipated. And now comes announcement of the demand for still another class of labor, and it is said that more than a thousand cooks will be needed in the state of Kansas alone. With a demand for many thousand harvest hands who are offered from $2.50 to $4 a day and with the known need for a thousand cooks who can draw from $1.50 to $2.50 a day, certainly some of the unemployed have a rare opportunity for earning at least a temporary livelihood.

Militant Suffrage Would Fail.
The resolution adopted by the suffragists in convention in Chicago wherein they go on record as opposed to militant suffrage methods will do much to aid the suffrage movement. The world at large has been thoroughly disgusted with militant suffrage methods as employed in England and more restrained evidence of a somewhat more restrained militancy in this country has occasioned a great deal of justifiable criticism. In this line of undesirable activity is classed the attempt made to force interviews with President Wilson, and this is mentioned in the resolution adopted in Chicago. There are a great many male sympathizers with the equal suffrage movement who would give their moral or active support to the proposition if militant methods were to become a recognized part of the campaign for equal suffrage.

THE PASSING OF MRS. ELLA KING MORRISON.

News came Wednesday that Mrs. Ella K. Morrison, of Lincoln, Nebraska, had passed on.

Mrs. Morrison was the sister of Mrs. Ensley Moore, and had many friends and acquaintances here. Ella King was born in Rome, N. Y., a temporary home of her family; her parents being the Rev. George I. King, D. D., and his wife, Emily B. (Sprague) King. The latter was an own cousin of Mrs. Cornelia S. Sanders and of Mrs. Eliza Brownell, mother of Mrs. John A. Ayers.

Miss King's earliest days were spent at Hanover, New Jersey, where her father was pastor of the Presbyterian church. The family came from there to Quincy, Illinois, where Dr. King was pastor of the first Presbyterian church for thirteen years, and his daughter grew to womanhood. The family then went to Jerseyville, where Dr. King had charge of the church of his denomination until his death in 1873.

Miss Ella there became the wife of Mr. J. Knox Smith, of that place, and they were the parents of three children, three of whom survive their mother, Mrs. George O. Smith, of Lincoln; Mrs. J. Woodward Jones of Wayne, and Mr. Wilfred Knox Smith of Crete, all living in Nebraska.

Mr. J. K. Smith died in 1882, and Mrs. Smith removed with her children to Lincoln, Nebraska, which has since been her home.

In 1889, Mrs. Smith became the wife of Mr. John G. Morrison, formerly of this place, and they made their home in Lincoln, Neb. They were the parents of a daughter, Miss Ella K., who survived her mother, and of a son who died in infancy. Mrs. Morrison was also a mother to her husband's daughter, Miss Estelle R. Morrison and son Edward R. Morrison, children by his first wife, who was Miss Mary Rees, of this city.

Mrs. Morrison was a woman of fine mind and ability, and the child of cultured parents. She was educated in the best schools of Quincy, and attended the Young Ladies Athenaeum here two years, being graduated in the class of 1868. She has traveled extensively in this country, and passed a year in Europe.

Mrs. Morrison was a member of the Presbyterian church, in which she was much interested, giving it of her time and money. She and her mother were, with the exception of one other person, the largest contributors to the erection of their church in Jerseyville.

Mrs. Morrison had not been in good health for a year or two past, but had hoped that it would improve until quite lately. This hope proved delusive, and she has entered into her rest.

Many friends in the three places she called home will miss her.

CHARLES MASSEY'S QUICK ACTION PREVENTED INJURIES

Young Man Displayed Great Presence of Mind and Courage in Stopping Runaway Horse.

Charles Massey recently had an experience at the H. B. Massey farm southwest of Jacksonville which was thrilling indeed and might have had serious consequences. He had hitched a spirited stallion to a cart and with his son, six years old, with him was just leaving the barn. The horse started up playfully and Mr. Massey reached for the lines, when the bit broke and away went the horse.

Mr. Massey quick as thought seized his little son by the arm and dropped him off behind to the ground, and the child was not hurt at all. One line caught in a ring on the back band of the harness and this was all Mr. Massey had to steady himself by. The horse ran up the driveway, through the gate into the road and then turned south. Reaching the road to the east he made the turn to the right and had straightened out for a good dash. By this time Mr. Massey had decided that the only chance of stopping the animal was for him to run out on the long shaft and gain a seat on the horse's back. It was a dangerous undertaking, but he accomplished it and immediately the horse began bucking.

This gave Mr. Massey a chance to seize the overcheck and reach down to the horse's nose with his other hand. The animal turned across a ditch three feet deep but the man on his back mastered him and no harm was done except a breakage of harness. Mr. Massey displayed a vast amount of nerve and good judgment and gave evidence of the long training he has had in handling horses. A man with less courage and experience would have been unable to prevent a serious accident.

FUNERAL OF HARVEY J. ROUNT WAS HELD WEDNESDAY

Great Throng Gathered at Church of Our Savior to Pay Tribute to His Memory.

Funeral services for the late Harvey J. Rount were held from the Church of Our Savior Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. The gathering of friends completely filled the church and many stood on the walk during the service. Solemn requiem high mass was said by the Very Rev. Dean J. W. Crowe with the Rev. Thomas McGrath of Vandalla as deacon, the Rev. J. E. Mullet of Buffalo, N. Y., as sub-deacon and the Rev. John Maroney as master of ceremonies.

Twelve other priests also assisted in the services.

Rev. L. P. McKeown, C. S. S. R. of St. Louis, delivered the sermon. Rev. McKeown is one of the priests who recently conducted the mission here and it was at that time that he became acquainted with Mr. Rount. In the course of his sermon he paid a beautiful tribute to the life and work of Mr. Rount.

The following is a synopsis of the Rev. McKeown's sermon.

"St. Paul in speaking to the Romans told them that their errors were inexcusable because the invisible things of God can be seen in the things of this world, the things of creation. In the heart of every man, there is a longing and desire for happiness. The world tempts man to find this happiness in the things that pertain to it. Man turns to the world and finds nothing but disappointment and sorrow."

"It was for this reason that St. Paul turned their attention for a time to the things of the world that he might point out to them the lessons there taught."

"The teachings that the things of creation convey to man is that the longings of the heart, the desired peace can only be found in the eternal things of God. It is only by obedience in His appointed way that this peace can come to the heart of man. The world teaches the power and divinity of God. The providence of God is revealed in His creations. In the world we learn the lessons that are necessary for the immortal soul. If happiness then happiness must exist, for we have in our hearts this longing for the longings of God given."

"But whatever our lot in this world or whatever the degree of happiness to which we have attained, the decree of God confronts us. 'It is appointed unto man once to die.' This is ever before man and from it there is no escape. Whatever we have accumulated in this world, wealth, fame, friends, one day we must leave it all. We shall depart never to return. That in which we found pleasure while in this world, we must leave forever."

"The study of the world was recommended to the Romans. This was because a proper study of creation reveals the kindness and greatness of God. It leads to a realization of our dependence on God and teaches us our first duty which is prayer. It affords us a better knowledge of the place of man in the world and teaches that our destiny is sure."

"Harvey Rount like other men had the longing for happiness in his heart. He had better opportunities to satisfy this longing with the things of this world, for he had wealth, advantages of education and learning and friends. He soon learned, however, the great lesson that these things cannot satisfy the deeper desires of the heart. He saw the eternal truth, deeply written in the things of nature, that man must surely die. In the world he saw God's greatness and realized what a little atom he himself, was in the great universe. He came to know that he was dependent on God and made himself humble, looking to God in that first and most important act of prayer."

"God heard Harvey Rount's prayer and lightened his heart by faith. He looked to God as his creator and saw his Redeemer dying on the cross and shedding the last drop of His precious blood for him. This filled him with such zeal that he desired to imitate the example of his God and gave himself, not in material and temporal gifts only but in a life of service. He loved his friends and he loved the people of this beautiful city in which he made his home. The one great desire of his heart was that he might have them with him through eternity and so he turned his estly advise American citizens not to risk themselves or the peace of their country and I have no doubt that these warnings would be needed.

Should Warn Americans.
President Taft advised Americans to leave Mexico when insurrection broke out there and President Wilson has repeated the advice. This advice, in my judgment was eminently wise and I think the same course should be followed in regard to warning Americans to keep off vessels subject to attack.

"I think, too, that American passenger ships should be prohibited from carrying ammunition. The lives of passengers ought not to be endangered by cargoes of ammunition whether that danger comes from possible explosions within or from possible attacks from without. Passengers and ammunition should not travel together. The attempt to prevent American citizens from incurring these risks is entirely consistent with the effort our own government is making to prevent attacks from submarines.

"The use of one remedy does not exclude the use of the other. The most familiar illustration is to be found in the action taken by municipal authorities during a riot. It is the duty of the mayor to suppress the mob and to prevent the violence but he does not hesitate to warn the citizens to keep off the streets during the riots. He does not question their right to use the streets but for their own protection and in the interest of order, he warns them not to incur the risks involved in going upon the streets when men are shooting at each other.

President May be Right.
"The president does not feel justified in taking the action above stated. That is, he does not feel justified, first, in suggesting the submission of the controversy to investigation or second, in warning the people not to incur the extra hazards in traveling on belligerent ships or on ships carrying ammunition and he may be right in the position he has taken, but as a private citizen I am free to urge both of these propositions and to call public attention to these remedies in the hope of securing such an expression of public sentiment as will support the president in employing these remedies, if, in the future he finds it consistent with his sense of duty to favor them."

Secretary Bryan said in giving out his statement, that while it mentioned only two particulars of difference, he reserved any others for presentation in the future.

Has Not Chosen Successor
No decision has been reached by President Wilson as to the choice of a successor to William Jennings Bryan as secretary of state. He probably will not make a selection for several weeks.

In well informed quarters the belief was expressed that Robert Lansing, counsellor of the department of state, who was commissioned today by the president as secretary of state ad interim eventually would be given the permanent appointment.

Mr. Lansing took charge of the department at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He did not move into the spacious quarters of the secretary remaining in the office occupied by the counsellor and his assistants.

"It's a much cooler room," he remarked.
Notification was sent to all American embassies and legations abroad as well as members of the diplomatic corps here that Mr. Lansing had become secretary of state ad interim. He is well known to the diplomats as he had been handling the legal side of most of the neutrality controversies that have arisen since the European war began. Mr. Lansing was named secretary of state ad interim under the law which provides that a vacancy occasioned by death or resignation must not be temporarily filled for a longer period than thirty days.

It was suggested in some quarters today, however, that the statutes contained nothing which specially forbade his re-appointment if the president wished to consider for a longer time the problem of naming a permanent secretary.

STREET AND "L" RAILROAD EMPLOYEES OF CHICAGO THREATEN TO STRIKE

Demand Better Working Conditions and Wages Within Forty-eight Hours in Letter to Head of Surface Lines.

Chicago, June 9.—A strike of 14,500 street and elevated railroad employees of Chicago within 48 hours was threatened today unless better working conditions and wages are granted.

The ultimatum is contained in a letter drafted at a meeting of the unions today and sent by William Quinn, of the surface men's organization, to President L. A. Busby of the surface lines.

Sanction of the national organization for a strike was obtained yesterday. A strike was averted a week ago when the employers agreed to modify working conditions and followed this with an offer of a wage increase which would, the men say, affect only 20 per cent of their number and amounting to 13-4 cents an hour.

This offer the letter terms today too trivial and the offer to arbitrate is called facetious.

"Each and every one of your proposals is rejected," said the letter. Mr. Busby said he would issue a statement later.

MAN UNDER WATER FIFTEEN MINUTES IS RESUSCITATED

Attempts to Rescue Sweetheart and is Held Under Water in her Death Grip.

Cairo, Ill., June 9.—To witness the drowning of his sweetheart after his futile attempt to save her, to be held in her death grip under the water for fifteen minutes and then himself to be snatched from death by artificial respiration—these were the experiences of Chris Kifefoj, a Russian, all today.

His fiancée, Miss Merle Miller, the 18 year old daughter of a wealthy farmer of Herrin, Ill., was drowned in Cache Creek, near here. The couple and a number of friends were crossing the swollen creek in a row boat when it was capsized.

Rife, an expert swimmer, went to the aid of Miss Miller and when both failed to come to the surface after fifteen minutes divers brought the two bodies up. Long efforts to resuscitate Miss Miller failed, but Rife after thirty minutes of artificial respiration, was restored to consciousness.

WEBB URGES PRESIDENT TO SEND NOTE TO GREAT BRITAIN

Feels That Cotton Interests Have Suffered as a Result of the Blockade of the Allies.

Washington, June 9.—Representative Webb of North Carolina urged President Wilson today to send promptly a note to Great Britain covering the general subject of neutral rights as affected by the blockade of the allies. Mr. Webb and other southern members of congress in whose behalf he spoke feel that the cotton interests have suffered unjustifiably as a result of the embargo.

No comment was made at the white house concerning what the president told Mr. Webb, but the latter advised friends later that Mr. Wilson had promised early action.

All Germs Ordered To Beat it!—Git!

Searching Influence of a Remedy That Works Wonders.

The introduction of S. S. S. is at once a command to blood impurities to find a way out. And what are blood impurities? They may be the hypersecretions found in the mucous linings of the body; they may be acid accumulations known as rheumatism; they may be boils, pimples, eczema, acne and stubborn, indolent sores. But examined closely, they are all germs that have gotten the upper hand and it requires the flushing influence of S. S. S. to drive them out. And out they go when S. S. S. begins to circulate in the blood. It only requires five minutes to begin this influence, for it is a fact that in this limited time S. S. S. may be traced in the urine, in the perspiration, in the effluence from the lungs to show that it is at work. Germs, mind you, are of various kinds, but all are foreign to health and S. S. S. is no respecter of destructive germs, it drives them all out, of whatsoever name they go by. Just get a bottle of S. S. S. of any druggist and soon you will observe a decided change. And if yours is a stubborn case, write to the Medical Adviser, care of The Swift Specific Co., 197 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. ## OLD JACKSONVILLE

The Thompsons of Meredosia

By Ensley Moore.

Member of Illinois State Historical Society.

Meredosia, in common with so many of the early river towns of the country, east as well as west, north as well as south, attracted many enterprising and capable men to it in the early days. Many of these men came to Jacksonville, went to St. Louis or Chicago or to the further west, and made more or less of a name for themselves and money for their children. The history of Morgan county could not be told without reference to Meredosia, albeit the town is located in the township furthest west and northwest of any in the county and almost cut off from the other townships. The town is twenty-four miles from Jacksonville, at the point where the Keokuk branch of the Wabasha railway crosses the Illinois river. Waverly is in the extreme southeastern part of the county, nineteen miles by rail from Jacksonville, so it is a journey of forty-three miles from Meredosia to Waverly and yet Morgan county extends a little further northwest and southeast than either of the towns named.

Thomas T. January, once a well-known citizen of Jacksonville and last of St. Louis, had the town of Meredosia laid out in 1832. One of its earliest settlers was Joseph C. Thompson, a native of New Hampshire—Holderness being his birthplace. He must have been born about 1810 or 1815. His earliest employment was in a shoe factory in Holderness, being an expert in the business. He first went to Boston after starting out into the world on his own account. His next stopping place, about fifteen hundred miles away, as then traveled, was St. Louis, Mo. There he met George C. Robinson, then a merchant in Meredosia.

Mr. Robinson was a native of New Hampshire and he invited Mr. Thompson to go home with him, evidently knowing how to "boom" his town. Mr. Thompson accepted the invitation and from that time, 1834, Meredosia was his home.

Dr. John M. Peck described the town in his Gazetteer of 1834 in part as follows: "A town site, landing and place of considerable business on the Illinois river in Morgan county, six miles above Naples. * * * Here are two steam mills, several stores and thirty or forty families. * * * Much of the mercantile business of Jacksonville passes through this place. Above the town is a singular bayou, from whence its name, which in French orthography would be Marais à l'Oge." There was more business in Meredosia after Mr. Thompson came, for he was an active, efficient and able man. He engaged in merchandising, farming and pork packing, probably also in the grain business. What was the pork house in winter usually became a grain warehouse in summer. The store, a large one, with the adjoining pork house right on the river bank, was on the north side of the main street of the town, at its west end. The storehouse was there till lately and probably still stands. It is said that the pork store of his business that it was "immense. Great droves of porkers came to Meredosia from way beyond Springfield. Sausage, meat and tenderloin was 3 cents a pound. Pigfeet and spareribs given away about as often as sold."

Mr. Thompson continued in this business—pork, farming, merchandising, etc., very successfully until his death, July 17, 1855. Meantime he had associated with him his brother, Samuel P. Thompson, who survived him for ten or fifteen years. These brothers were tall, erect, handsome men. Anyone in these parts who had not seen or known Joseph C. Thompson had missed one of the pleasures of life. Mr. Thompson was not only of splendid figure and of handsome countenance, but his face was beaming with kindly gentleness and his eye was a delight to see. But he was a man among men, of distinguished bearing.

After coming to Illinois, Mr. Thompson made his home for a time in Mr. Robinson's family, where he met Miss Wilson, a sister of Mrs. Robinson. The latter, who lived to old age, was a very handsome woman. Mr. Thompson married Miss Wilson, who lived but a short time. He afterwards married Sarah Wilson, sister of his first wife. By this second wife he had a son, Joseph Wilson Thompson, born Sept. 10, 1840, at Mt. Sterling, Brown county, to which place Mr. Robinson had gone to reside. This was the family home of the Robinsons thereafter and they were prominently known there. Mrs. Thompson died there in about the year 1844 and Mrs. Robinson cared for her nephew until Mr. Thompson married again, this time Miss Sarah Porter McMackin, of Jacksonville. She survived him, and in 1866 married Mr. John Hochbuhl of Jacksonville. She was a fond and affectionate mother to her stepson until her death in October, 1894.

Mr. Thompson was a sister of Mrs. Stafford Smith of Meredosia, of Mrs. Joshua Moore and the first Mrs. Robert Hockenbuhl and Miss Eliza McMackin of Jacksonville; of Mrs. Ensley T. Goudy, of Springfield, Ill., and of Mrs. Wm. Divine, Jr. of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Thompson was greatly interested in the project of building the Northern Cross railroad and was one of those fortunate enough to ride on the road, at the time of the initial trial trip of its locomotive, Nov. 8, 1838, from Meredosia out about to Bluffs (now). This being the first railroad train ever run in the great Northwest.

In politics Mr. Thompson was a member of the Democratic party. J. Wilson Thompson, son of the above, was engaged in the employ of the Wabasha for many years. He married Miss Maria L. Reed, daughter of Dr. M. L. Reed, of Jacksonville, in Oct. 1869. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were the parents of one son, Maro, and two daughters, reference to whom has been made in these sketches in the history of Dr. Reed.

Mr. Thompson attended Illinois college through the junior year, and was a member of the Sigma Pi society. He had a farm at Meredosia, where he resided for 22 1/2 years after his marriage—living in the town; then the family came to Jacksonville and bought the house now occupied by Mr. George S. Rogerson, at the northwest corner of Mound avenue and Lockwood Place. For some years past the Thompsons have lived in Berkeley, California.

Mr. Thompson was an enthusiastic Republican and Union man, and stood for his sentiments through the war. Both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were musicians and players upon the piano. She being an especially fine performer on that instrument.

Joseph C. Thompson's brother, Samuel P. Thompson, as stated above, was a man of notable appearance, and carried on a store after the former's death.

Mr. Thompson had three daughters, by his first wife. The latter dying in a small-pox epidemic, about 1848.

Helen married Wm. Alexander, brother of John T. Alexander, the great cattle man. They had two daughters. Mrs. Alexander was a handsome woman, dying early.

Mary Thompson became the wife of Capt. Charles Carpenter of the 10th Illinois Regiment of Volunteers. Louise, the youngest of the Thompsons, was a girl of unusual beauty, and of much attractiveness of manner. She married and went to St. Louis to live.

Samuel P. Thompson was one of the finest players upon the snare drum ever known in this state. In the great political campaign of 1860, Mr. Thompson with Benj. H. Grierson and Eugene E. L. Reyland, all of them playing for the Republicans in processions with the "Wide Awakes", and as occasion required, it would seem to "fond recollection" that no other men ever made such fine and inspiring music. Grierson played on the fife or post-horn and Reyland on the bass drum. The echoes of the strains of the trio will never die out of the ears of those who heard them, as long as conscious remembrance lasts.

Mr. Thompson married again, some years after the death of his first wife; but the name of his second wife, who survived him, is not recalled. He died some time in the '60s, as remembered now. His residence was in the house directly east of the Thompson store.

As is well known, Benj. H. Grierson became the great cavalry general and raider, returned to Jacksonville to live, and died here in September 1911.

Mr. Reyland is still living in California. His wife was a daughter of Daniel Waldo, who turned the first spade of earth beginning the Northern Cross railroad.

The 86th commencement exercises of Illinois college were observed Wednesday. The grand old trees on the campus shaded the platform decorated in living green and all present entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion. The class of 1890, the college alumni, trustees, faculty, president and guests of honor marched to the stand and took their places. The music by the J. Bart Johnson orchestra was an attractive feature of the day. Rev. Arthur Rider of Los Angeles, Calif., pronounced the invocation and then Arthur Petrie delivered a fine oration on "The Way to World Peace". A comprehensive code agreed to by all nations should rule and battle flags should be furled.

"The College student of Today" was the theme of a fine oration by Earl A. Harmon. In the past there has been a great prejudice against the college man but it is passing away and his worth is attested by the fact that seventy per cent of the men in eminent positions in the business world are college graduates. The greatest prosperity comes when all classes work in harmony.

The orator of the day, Hon. Selden P. Spencer, of St. Louis, was then introduced and delivered an admirable address on "The Worth of Training". A very few thoughts are offered:

"There must be a foundation to every life even though the details are not apparent. If there be none the result is disastrous. The greatest asset of a college is loyal alumni and friends. This is truly an inspiring occasion when young people are being sent out into the world to do their work. How big the graduate feels commencement time and how small afterward. What mighty possibilities are before us. A professor once took off his hat when entering the recitation room because he was in the presence of mighty possibilities. One of his pupils was Martin Luther, a raw, callow youth, yet how his future life shook the very foundations of the world."

"I told my son I would not take half a million dollars for him and let him go into a factory and simply learn nothing but handicraft without any training of his mind. The money might be lost but an education never."

"There are three essentials in a man's character; education, patriotism and religion and without each, and all he is lacking. Education without religion produces the atheist; without patriotism, the anarchist, and with all the perfect man."

"There is no such thing as education in the high sense without relationship to God through Jesus Christ. Death, through Jesus, is how we have life without true religion. The lights in the world's fair ground made a beautiful spectacle but next day when turned on at midday they were weak and puny because of the mighty sun above. So how weak and insignificant the productions of man beside the work of God."

"Our young friends stand today at the beginning of their careers. Whatever you undertake, stick to it; it is the fickle, changeable man who fails. Perseverance without genius is better than genius without perseverance. If you would succeed translate your fine resolutions into achievement."

The college song and benediction by Dean Hayden ended the exercises.

The business meeting of the alumni association followed with President A. T. Capps in the chair. The thanks of the association were tendered the Phi Alpha society for its especial effort to raise $1,000 to place the names of ten members on the memorial list.

J. F. Downing was elected alumni trustee.

Ralph I. Dunlap, A. C. Metcalf and A. D. Fairbank were made a canvassing committee to secure the preference for alumni trustee.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected:

A. T. Capps, president.
Hugh M. Wilson, vice president.
A. D. Fairbank, secretary treasurer.

E. B. Hamilton reported good progress in securing data regarding all Illinois college students who were soldiers in the civil war. It was deemed wise not to undertake a canvass for funds for a monument at present.

H. H. Bancroft, E. B. Harmon and T. P. Carter were appointed a committee to prepare a suitable glass case or receptacle for the loving cup.

Adjourned.

The Alumni Dinner.

Next came the dinner in the gymnasium. It was furnished by the ladies of the Christian church and was very good and admirably served.

Rev. Arthur Rider, D. D., invoked the divine blessing and after all had eaten President Capps welcomed the class of 1915 to the alumni ranks and Ray Bracewell responded. The college song, "Hullabaloo, Hooray, Hooray", was then sung with a will after which the chair introduced E. B. Hamilton of Peoria as a toastmaster. The young gentleman shows that he is a worthy son of a noble sire as his remarks were bright and witty with eloquence suited to the occasion.

The loving cup is for the class which returns the greatest percentage of its members and this time it went to the class of 1914.

lege president. He referred to the grand achievements of the past ten years and said that as the greater part of the fine work accomplished was due President Rammelkamp it was but fitting that a due meed of praise should be awarded the gentleman for his heroic efforts, taking the helm when the ship was so nearly swamped and bringing it successfully into port. The worthy president had accomplished great things and should have the thanks and appreciation now while he is living and able to enjoy the flowers given him for even a small bouquet would be more enjoyable now than huge piles of flowers on his grave. Mrs. Rammelkamp also came in for due appreciation for her faithful efforts had had no small part in the accomplishments of her husband.

President Rammelkamp disclaimed any unusual praise and said his efforts would have been without result but for the faithful friends who had so nobly stood by him.

Edward F. Goltz, trustee, was glad to be present and gave the alumni some excellent advice.

Other speakers were Judge Spencer, Thomas Fansler of Philadelphia, Dr. Arthur Rider, Los Angeles, Prof. F. W. Sanford of Lincoln, Nebraska; Petefish of Virginia; Dr. De-

Silva of Rock Island; George E. Montgomery of Edmonton, Canada, who said our northern neighbors regarded the U. S. as a big brother; C. S. Rannels, S. W. Baxter and Ralph I. Dunlap, who reported progress of the alumni fund. In 1912 receipts were $1,500; in 1913, $1,800; in 1914, $2,200, and this year they would probably be $2,500.

On the memorial list were placed by contributions of $100 each S. R. Capps, James Shaw, James English, W. H. Gibbs, E. B. Hamilton, Chas. A. Barnes, R. C. Kenney and a movement was on foot which would place there the name of Dr. Jayne of Springfield.

A telegram of greeting was ordered sent Dr. Edward Capps at Princeton and the exercises were at an end.

"MORNING GLANCES" (By Gosh)

Rockford smothered Moline, the score being 13 to 0.
Bush weakened in the eighth and Cleveland defeated the Mackmen.
Washington nosed out New York for fourth place in the American yesterday. St. Louis was the senator's victim.
Brooklyn in the National is going good on the western trip. She cleaned up Cincinnati Wednesday by a 5 to 1 score.
It was awful what Detroit did to Boston yesterday. The score was 15 to 0 and Detroit made 17 hits off of Collins and Penneck.
Russell Ford who used to be a premier pitcher for New York in the American league, won a game for Buffalo yesterday. Baltimore was the victim.
Kansas City won another game yesterday and continues its victorious march pennant-ward. It was a pitchers' battle between Crandall and Henning.
Mercy, what did the White Sox do to the Yanks yesterday? Thirteen runs and eighteen hits. Cicotte held the Yanks to two singles.
Lee Magee is still doing it. Wednesday his hitting and fielding helped defeat Newark 7 to 3. Magee surely is going some and promises to lead the Federal league in hitting.
Judging from the game yesterday Connie Mack did not make any mistake when he sold Penneck to the Red Sox. The only danger he is in is that he might be liable for suit for obtaining money under false pretenses.

President Rammelkamp Reviews Work of Past School Year

Friends of Illinois College:

Another College year has come and gone. I am glad to report that like other recent years, it has been a period of substantial progress. I invite your attention to the important events in the history of the year.

Trustees.

On the recommendation of the Alumni, the Trustees have elected Mr. John F. Downing '79 of Kansas City to succeed himself as Alumni Trustee. The Trustees have also elected to the Board Mr. Robert C. Lamphier of Springfield, Illinois. Mr. Lamphier is a graduate of the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University of the class of 1897. He is well known as an inventor, and has identified himself with the business interests of Springfield, as Secretary and Manager of the Sangamo Electric Company. We extend a warm welcome to Mr. Lamphier.

College Faculty and Work of Instruction.

The work of instruction has proceeded during the year with that efficiency which is characteristic of the Faculty of Illinois College. We cannot recognize too gratefully the efficient work and loyal devotion of the members of our Faculty. Professor Smith of the Biology department, and Professor Cole of the Modern Languages department, after a year's leave of absence, returned to their duties last fall. Professor Cole spent the year chiefly in study at the University of Munich, Germany, while Professor Smith did post-graduate work towards her Doctor's degree at the University of Chicago. The recent election of Professor Smith to the honorary scientific society Sigma Xi, is a recognition of her success in the field of scientific research. The increasing number of students in the department of Chemistry has made necessary the installation of a new laboratory on the second floor of Sturtevant, the new

Have received this year more requests for recommendations than we have been able to supply with available candidates. By action of the Faculty a committee on recommendation of teachers has been created so that the work of preparing and recommending teachers for our public schools may be more consistently and more carefully done. Furthermore, the courses in education and other departments have been organized so as to enable students to qualify under the new certifying law of our state. Schools that apply to us for recommendations may rest assured that every effort will be made to suggest only fit candidates.

The College Library.

I am glad to report that the College Library has made unusual progress during the year. The generous cash donations from Dr. O. L. Schmidt, Mr. Thomas Worthington and Chairman Andrew Russel, added to the regular appropriation from the College funds have enabled the Library to add a larger number of new books than in any previous year since the reorganization of the Library. Among these friends who have given a dozen or more books may be mentioned the following: Mrs. Sarah G. Riddle, Mr. Andrew Russel, E. P. Kirby, Edward Capps, and Dr. O. L. Schmidt.

Considering the competition of the public high schools, intensified by the new state tuition law mentioned in previous reports, the Academy has done well in virtually maintaining the attendance of the previous year. Fifteen students were graduated from Whipple Academy this year.

Conservatory of Music.

The Conservatory of Music, as we might expect, has had another successful year. Friends will be glad to know that contracts have been renewed with Director Krich and the other heads of departments so that, in the main, the Conservatory Faclaboratory being used chiefly for advanced students.

It seems likely that there will be few changes on the College faculty next year. On the whole the membership of our Faculty is becoming more stable. Professor J. G. Ames, in an address before the Chicago Alumni Association, presented some statistics on this subject which may be of interest to friends of the College. During the fifteen years that Professor Ames has been connected with the Faculty, a total of fifty-four changes have occurred, exclusive of the Conservatory Faculty. However, of these changes, thirty-nine occurred between 1900 and 1907, while only fifteen have taken place between 1907 and 1913. Although the changes are becoming less frequent, they are still too numerous for the best interests of the college. This fact is especially evident when it is remembered that the changes often include not only instructors and assistants, but heads of departments. No improvement in this important matter can be expected until the College can adequately remunerate its professors.

Miss Helen W. Crawley, a graduate of Northwestern University, came to us as an instructor in Latin and French. Her work has been very satisfactory and she has been reappointed to the position. The Trustees would have been glad to reappoint Miss Maude Johnson as assistant in College Mathematics and Whipple Physics, but she prefers to enter public school work. Mr. Irvin B. Potter has been appointed as instructor in Mathematics and Science and high school visitor. He will, therefore, give only a part of his time to the work of instruction, devoting the remainder to high school visitation. It is hoped that this work will help the College to keep in touch with the high schools, and to co-ordinate its work still more successfully with the public school system. Mr. Potter is himself a graduate of Illinois College. After a year's experience in a high school, he went to Pittsfield, Illinois, as teacher and athletic coach. After a successful experience in Pittsfield, he was called to a better position in the township high school at Lawrenceville. During the past year, he has been acting as Principal of the high school at Shelbyville, where he was offered a reappointment at increased remuneration when he vacated the position on our own staff.

It is a pleasure to note that the high schools of our section of the state are turning more frequently to the College for candidates for their faculties. As a matter of fact, we will continue as in previous years. This is fortunate for it will insure a continuation of that instruction which has brought such pronounced success to the Conservatory in recent years. We regret to lose the services of Miss Rachel Jerauld, who has taught elementary piano for several years. Miss Jerauld resigned for reasons of health. She will be succeeded by Miss Ruth Duncan, now teacher of music in the public schools of Mt. Sterling, Illinois. Miss Duncan is a former student of Illinois College, and received a diploma in piano at the commencement of 1915. Miss Alice Phillips, who has taught sight-singing and public school music in the Conservatory during the past year, will not return to her position next year. Miss Duncan will take charge of the work in public school music so that the official title of her position will be Instructor in Elementary Piano and Public School Music. The Conservatory will lose the services of Mr. Viggo Jensen who has taught cello for several years on account of his graduation from College. Mr. Paul Beane of Boston has been appointed to this position. Dean Corrigan, who received a diploma in violin at the commencement of 1915, will succeed Miss Anna Forsythe as Assistant Instructor in the violin department. Miss Forsythe having decided to enter public concert work.

Academy Hall.

We regret to lose the services of Miss Mary W. Price as Head of Academy Hall. Miss Price has worked faithfully and efficiently for the success of this department.

Students.

One of the most gratifying facts in the recent development of the College has been the steady increase in the number of College students during the last three years. In 1912-13 there was an increase of thirty-six in the College department; in 1913-14, an increase of thirty-three; and this year there is an increase of fifteen. Considering the discouraging conditions created by the European war, and more particularly by the severe drought it is surprising that we have had another increase in the number of College students. The registration in the College is 146. The total registration in all departments, no students being counted more than once, is 255.

The year has witnessed a continuation of that fine spirit of loyalty and enthusiasm, which has characterized the recent years. Students and Faculty have co-operated in the promotion of those various activities which constitute an important part of "college life." The success of our athletic teams has naturally contributed much to the development of this spirit of corps in the student body. This spring for the second successive time the Illinois College Track Team won the championship among the colleges of the state. Our other teams, including especially the football team of last fall acquitted themselves well. I am glad to report that Coach W. T. Harmon will continue as our Director of Athletics. He has the confidence of both students and Faculty and always exerts his influence in favor of "clean sport." His continuation on the Faculty will mean much not only for future success in athletics, but for the promotion of good ideals among our athletes.

The development of Beecher Hall as a social center, although a great advantage in most respects, involves, however, some problems. As far as the societies themselves are concerned, alumni and active members ought to realize that if special precautions are not taken to regulate the social uses of their halls, social objects will overshadow the old literary ideals that have been the pride of the societies in the past.

One of the most important developments in student activities during the year has been the organization of a general College Devotional Service. This organization, which has taken the place of the former Y. M. C. A., is proving to be a real force in the religious life of the College. Both Faculty and students are taking an active part in the work of the new organization.

Much of the success that has characterized the student activities of the year is due to the efficient business management of these enterprises by Mr. Arthur Kingsley whom the students engaged as Graduate Manager at the beginning of the year.

What has been stated in previous reports regarding the active interest of the Alumni in the College might be repeated in this report. That interest continues ever warm and helpful. The Alumni Fund, under the efficient supervision of the Chairman, Professor Edward Capps, '87 is making further progress. Last year in addition to $687.50 contributed to current expenses of the College, and $202 paid into the endowment funds, the Directors added another $1,000 to their Alumni Endowment Fund; so that the latter now amounts to $2,000. "In Memoriam Memberships" in the Alumni Fund Association were also established for the following: Elphalest W. Blatchford, '45; Paul Selby, '53 and Harold W. Johnson, '79.

I am informed that the total subscriptions to the Fund this year will probably amount to $2,500 in which sum are included several In Memoriam Memberships, and some subscriptions designated for College endowment. The In Memoriam Memberships will probably be announced at the Alumni Luncheon. The Directors will undoubtedly add another substantial amount to the Alumni Fund Endowment.

One of the important things accomplished during the year has been the preparation of a card list of the Whipple Academy Alumni and former students. Mr. George L. Merrill, '88, and Mr. H. H. Bancroft, '96, have rendered valuable assistance in the preparation of the list. It includes not only the students of Whipple Academy but also those who were in the preparatory department prior to the establishment of Whipple.

For the fourth successive time, the College has closed the year without a deficit. The time was when annual deficits were the customary thing in our College finances; it seems now as if balances were becoming customary. Making due allowance for certain expenditures that ought to be charged against the income of the present year, we shall have a balance of a few hundred dollars. The Trustees will follow their usual custom of publishing a summary of the finances of the college, so that Alumni and friends may have exact detailed information regarding the financial condition of the College. Suffice it is to say that the College has never been in better financial condition than it is today.

However, with increased endowment have come greatly increased expenditures. It is, of course, a familiar fact that it costs considerably more to educate a college student than he pays in tuition and fees. An increasing body of college students, coupled with a policy of maintaining high educational ideals, therefore creates a necessity for additional endowment. Illinois College has reached the point where further substantial progress can be made only if friends again rally to the financial support of the institution.

It is unfortunate that adverse business conditions interfered with the purpose of undertaking another campaign for endowment. This effort ought not to be delayed much longer. The greatest need, as has been frequently emphasized, is additional endowment for increasing the salaries of our professors. A movement for at least $250,000 should soon be inaugurated and ultimately we ought to raise $500,000 for endowment, equipment, a new library and a new Commons. May some good friend soon come forward and start the fund with a substantial subscription.

PRESIDENT RAMMELKAMP REVIEWS WORK OF THE PAST SCHOOL YEAR

Progress of the Last Decade.
I am closing this commencement my tenth year as President of Illinois College. A decade in the life of the institution furnishes, perhaps, an excuse for a little historic retrospect. Through the co-operation of trustees, faculty, alumni, students and friends, the College has made during that period very substantial progress. Nor would I overlook some important achievements in the administration of President Barnes, which laid the foundation for later success. Briefly stated, I should say that the decade is characterized by the transition from a state of precarious existence to a condition of permanent stability, from a college with a doubtful future to one with an assured future.

There are perhaps three or four lines of progress which deserve mention. For example, the College has moved forward financially. Permanent financial foundations have been laid in this decade. We are perhaps still too close to the period to get a proper perspective of its relation to the past and the future, but at present it would seem that this financial stability has been the greatest achievement of the last ten years. In 1905, Illinois College had a nominal endowment of some $228,000. However, making allowance for doubtful assets, the actual endowment was not more than about $190,000. Furthermore, the institution was at that time burdened with an indebtedness of $36,400. Today it has an endowment of over $388,000, and a balance in the expense fund. In other words, the institution has more than doubled its endowment, and paid off an accumulated indebtedness that threatened to drag it to destruction. Instead, of annual deficits of several thousand dollars, we have now for four successive times closed the year with a balance in the treasury. In 1905 the income from endowment was $6,876; this year the income from endowment was over $20,500. It will be observed that not only is the total income from investments larger but a much better average of interest is being earned today on the College endowment. The total income of the institution, from all sources, in 1905 was $24,168; this year it is $49,471.

I cannot speak in too high praise of the work of the Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees of the College in looking after the investment of endowment funds. While always bearing in mind the principle of "Safety First," the committee has made investments that are netting the College today an average return of over five and one-quarter per cent. Let us look next at the number of students. In 1905, there were registered 101 College students; this year the number of College students is 146, representing an increase of about 45 per cent. It is to be noted that this increase in College attendance has occurred without the introduction of those courses in domestic science and the other branches, which have helped to swell attendance in other institutions. In 1905 the total attendance in all departments was 202, as compared with 358 this year. With the increase in attendance has come a remarkable development of an enthusiastic college spirit among the students. We have never had a finer college spirit "on the Hill."

The College plant is being kept in much better condition today than it was at the beginning of the decade. This is perhaps best shown in the annual amount spent for ordinary repairs. In 1905 the appropriation for ordinary repairs was $600; this year for several years past, the appropriation for this purpose has been $2,000 exclusive of repairs at Academy Hall.

Nor would I forget to mention as one of the noteworthy signs of progress in this decade, the reawakened interest of the Alumni in their alma mater. The Alumni and former students have never shown, I believe, a greater interest in the College than they are manifesting today. The existence of several flourishing alumni associations, such as those in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Springfield and Jacksonville, the establishment of the "Reunion Trophy," and above all, the founding of the Alumni Fund are evidence of the growing loyalty of Illinois College Alumni.

All of these developments mean greater efficiency and usefulness. The College is serving the cause of education much better today than was possible ten years ago. Let no one imagine, however, that we have attained the ideal of an American college. Much still remains to be done. We have only laid the foundation. The next ten years, or rather the next five years, will determine whether Illinois College shall keep step with the best colleges of the country.

Illinois Wesleyan has just completed a half-million dollar fund and Knox College is in the midst of a campaign for a half-million dollars. What others are accomplishing, we can also do. If the same faith and courage, the same spirit of co-operation and willingness to help that have characterized the last decade will inspire us during the next ten years, the College will have a glorious future. God help us to do the task that awaits us.

Mr. Goltra, who has had charge of getting funds for the purchase of the College reported that the funds had been secured. The stereophones will be purchased soon.

AMERICAN NOTE IS SENT TO GERMANY

cases in dispute between Germany and the United States, but feels that before such a step can be taken some guarantee must be given that in the interim of discussion the lives of American citizens will not be jeopardized and that the United States will not be required to yield any of its rights while the discussion is under way.

It is the repetition of attacks on American vessels or lives which the president believes must be prevented by an assertion of the rights of the United States and the attainment of Germany's acquiescence in that point of view before diplomatic negotiations on the subject can continue. The note cabled to Germany it was said authoritatively leaves room in many respects for a friendly reply but contains firm insistence on the principles expressed in the American notes of Feb. 10th and May 13th.

The president had requested that detailed forecasts of the note be printed in advance of the publication of the official text.

Believes President is Wrong.

"I believe you are wrong and that I can convince you of it," Mr. Bryan is quoted as having said with a smile in his farewell interview with the president today. He told Mr. Wilson he believed he could be of service in the country by securing an expression of the peaceful desires of the nation and help to prevent war.

Later when Mr. Bryan's statement appeared, comment in high official quarters still was friendly toward Mr. Bryan personally, but sharp issue was taken with his interpretation of what the note to Germany actually contained.

It was declared by some of those officials familiar with the contents of the document that it would not necessarily lead to war and that such a contingency could arise only if there was a repetition of attacks on American lives and vessels. It was indicated that failure to secure reparation for the Lusitania might mean severance of diplomatic relations but that hostilities would be precipitated only by warlike acts on the part of Germany.

BIG HORSE SHOW HELD AT VIRGINIA

HUNDREDS ATTEND ANNUAL CASS COUNTY EVENT

Keen Competition Shown for Ribbons in Various Contests Under Management of Business Men's Association—Automobile Parade.

Over 3,000 people were in attendance at the thirteenth annual horse show of Virginia, held Wednesday under the auspices of the Commercial club of the capital of Cass county. In connection with the show was the second annual automobile parade. Although the time of the year finds the farmers in the busiest part of their work, there was a goodly representation from the rural districts, although all nearby towns furnished a big quota of the attendance. It has been the custom for several years to hold the show in the public square, but it was always found to congest traffic so much, and also in view of the comparative recent paving of the square, North Front street was used for the various contests.

The program commenced at 10 o'clock and music during the day was furnished by the Chandlerville Concert band. The crowd was very orderly and the large number of people in automobiles was a feature of the day's program. The chairman of the committee in charge was D. H. Salzenstein, who is deserving of much praise for the way the program was carried out. F. M. Robertson acted as an announcer. Garland Ward acted as an assistant. The officers of the Business Men's association are Thomas Finn, president; George H. Widmayer, secretary, and John Steiler, treasurer.

Many autos were in line at 5:30 when the parade was formed. Each car driver was given a number and that number was the basis on which the three prizes were awarded. The first prize went to Warren Gordley.

Events in Horse Show.
Keen competition was manifested among the various contestants and Paul Sheppard, Bert Way and James McDaniels were among the Jacksonville contestants who secured ribbons. Ira Cottingham of Eden, Ill., acted as a judge and the following were the winners. Where no town is mentioned it is understood that the contestant is from Virginia:

Best colt, foal of 1915, by any draft horse—First, H. W. Sinclair; second, James Newell; third, J. W. Miles.

Best mare, foal of 1915, by any jack—First prize, C. M. Litter. Draft mare, with two of her produce of any age—First, R. G. Crum; second, J. W. Miles.

Draft stallion, with five or more of his get—First, R. G. Crum. Best yearling colt—First, R. G. Crum; second, R. B. Ross; third, Mc McCarr.

Best 2-year-old colt—First, R. G. Crum; second, R. G. Crum; third, John Hughett.

SEE INTERNATIONAL PEACE

AS 1916 PARAMOUNT ISSUE

Tribune Correspondent Says Bryan Resignation Brings Crisis in the Democratic Party — "Peerless Leader" May Head National Dry Forces.

The Washington staff correspondent of the Chicago Tribune sees in the resignation of Mr. Bryan from President Wilson's cabinet the beginning of a great struggle for control of the Democratic party. The correspondent points out that Mr. Bryan undoubtedly plans to make international peace the paramount issue in the campaign of 1916. The correspondent said:

Washington, D. C., June 8.—Secretary of State Bryan's resignation from the cabinet today has precipitated a crisis in the affairs of the Democratic party as well as the nation. Speculation has arisen as to whether Mr. Bryan will become a candidate for the nomination in opposition to President Wilson.

The recent premier of the cabinet immediately became the head of the peace factor in the Democratic party. By his resignation he placed President Wilson at the head of the war faction.

Irrespective of what the immediate future may produce with regard to the relations between the United States and Germany, a tremendous struggle within the Democratic party for control of that organization in the next presidential campaign appears to be certain.

Peace Foremost With Bryan. Mr. Bryan has placed his peace program above all other considerations. Mr. Wilson has placed his policy to protect Americans above all other considerations, including Mr. Bryan's peace idea.

In the event of war between the United States and Germany it is not probable that Mr. Bryan will attempt to handicap the president by leading his peace party into the presidential campaign unless he believes that by doing so he can bring about the end of the war, and with it permanent international peace. But if war is not declared, the issue between Mr. Bryan and President Wilson is clearly drawn. The ex-secretary of state undoubtedly will attempt to make permanent international peace the paramount issue of the 1916 campaign. He will attempt to force the Democratic party to make its stand for peace if any price.

Has Big Following. That he has a tremendous following within the party is admitted. That following comes largely from the Democratic states of the solid south, whose delegates to the next national convention undoubtedly will have the deciding voice in the selection of a candidate for the presidency.

Secretary Bryan's resignation also breaks the fetters which have chafed on his wrists during his fight against the saloon. Heretofore urging the elimination of liquor by the states and not by the nation as a whole, out of deference to the president's desire to keep liquor out of national politics, Mr. Bryan is now expected to step into the leadership of the dry forces of this country in their campaign to exterminate the liquor business and all connected with it.

◆ THE BAND CONCERT FUND ◆

Subscriptions for the band concerts contemplated for the three public parks, continue to come in though somewhat slowly. The fund is far short of the amount that needs to be raised for the number of concerts that the band hopes to give.

The fund has been increased by contributions from John N. Ward of $25.00 and the Pacific hotel of $5.00. One of Mr. Campbell's first acts after taking over the hotel management, being to send in the hotel's donation. This brings the total amount to date to $140.50 which with the band's ten per cent added makes the grand total $149.55. The contributions in detail are:

Jacksonville R. & L. Co.	$50.00
Elks Lodge No. 682	25.00
T. P. A.	15.00
U. C. T.	25.00

Jenkinson-Bode Co.	5.00
Myers Bros.	5.00
G. A. Muehlhausen	2.00
John N. Ward	25.00
Pacific Hotel	5.00

Total ..... $140.50
Ten per cent added by band ..... 14.05
Grand total ..... $149.55

MR. HOWELL'S IMPROVING.

The welcome news comes from Rochester, Minn., that E. J. Howells who underwent an operation there recently is now improving steadily. In a card to a Jacksonville friend, Mr. Howells writes cheerfully as follows: "This is the place where they repair defective parts of a man's machinery. Better come up and undergo repairs so you will be in fine running order the rest of your life. I am feeling fine and expect to leave the hospital the latter part of this week but will not be ready to start home then as I will still be under the doctor's care."
